Last announcement of the second Mediterranean Congress of Biotechnology (MCB 2)

The deadline has been extended to January 31th, 2019

The organizing and scientific committees have the great pleasure to announce the second Mediterranean Congress of Biotechnology (MCB 2) to be held in Hotel Saphir Palace, Yasmine Hammamet (Tunisia) on March 16th -20th 2019. As the first MCB, the second one aims to bring scientists and researchers, working in biotechnology fields from mainly, but not only, Mediterranean countries, in order to present and share their latest scientific and technological developments. Moreover, MCB 2 aims to give opportunities to discuss and to initiate or consolidate Euro Mediterranean collaboration and to explore means to promote multilateral partnership. Besides, MCB 2 is an excellent opportunity to join partners and to improve collaboration within the Partnership for Research and Innovation in the Mediterranean Area (PRIMA) initiative in biotechnology. This MCB 2 will comprise keynote lectures presented by eminent international scientists and experts as well as oral and poster communications that will be presented by senior and young researchers. The symposium topics include among others, breakthroughs in biotechnology research and development. Biocatalysts, genomics, metagenomics, proteomics, bioinformatics and molecular physiology with the recent advances in knowledge and new technologies, having significant impacts on innovative technologies, related to molecular biology, biochemical, environment, bio-industries, biomedical, pharmaceutical and plant biotechnology.
